COMPANY WANTS EXEMPTIONS.

St. Louis County Railway Asks Modification of Franchise.

The St. Louis County Railway Company, yesterday filed a petition with the County Court at Clayton, asking to be relieved from grading Olive street along the line of its railroad for any greater width than that established by law; to be relieved from constructing the street with telford maying, but to have permission to use macadam in-stead for a distance of one foot on the outstead for a distance of one foot on the outside of the outer rails, and to be exempted from riprapping the street and to be cxempted from using the girder rails. These requirements were insisted on in the franchise granted about a year ago.

Without these concessions, the petition stated, the construction of the road, if not impossible, would be no expensive as to deprive it of any value. The petition was signed by Henry W. Bond, president, and George P. Autenrieth, secretary, of the company.

George P. Autenrieth, secretary, of the com-pany.

There were two other applicants for the franchise to build an electric railroad on Olive Street read last year, and there was a sharp fight, for the privilege. This fight probably will be renewed, as the West Olive Street Railway Company, one of the com-petitors then has filed another application for a franchise, and its promoters will pro-test against the granting of the exemptions asked for in yesterday's petition.

Father Albert Is Consecrated in Suburban Railroad Plans Many Improvements on Its Several Lines.

Fifty New Cars Have Been Ordered and Company Intends to Reduce Time on Meramec Division.

The St. Louis and Saburban Railway Company is pushing to completion a series of improvements that will enable it to furnish better service to the public, to reduce the time on some of the lines, and that will aggregate $1,250,000.

By October 15 or November 1 the work. company will make to get to the World's Fair have not been decided, but General Manager Jenkins said yesterday that the Suburban line would have terminals at the Exposition grounds.

The power-house at Hodiamont avenue will be equipped with five new batteries of 500-horse power each. The capacity of the boiler-room will be 5,000-horse power, which is equal to 8,009-horse power at the engines. A new engine has been shipped from establishment of a new substation the company will be able to maintain a pressure of 500 volts on the motors of the cars.

The voltage of the motors now in use is 500, but when the cars are a long distance from the central power station it is impossible to keep the voltage up to the limit. This defect will be remedied. The Buentwood substation on the Meramer Highlands line will be remedied. The current will be transformer will be installed. The current will be transformed at this station, and there will then be no difficulty in keeping up a voltage of 500, no matter how far out on the line the cars may be.

The company is also considering the establishment of a substation, equipped with transforming apparatus, on the Florissant line, which runs from Wellston Park to Florissant, a distance of eleven miles. This line while be rebuilt.

The last of the track work on the main line, which runs from Fourth and Elm streets to Suburban Park, is now under way. Nine-inch rails are being laid on Locust street, and that work will be finished this week. The track from Vandeventer avenue to the Suburban right of way, a distance of fifty yards, has yet to be laid, and then the relaying of the main line will be complete.

WILL LAY HEAVY RALLS.

WILL LAY HEAVY RAILS. The company is improving the Meramed Highlands line from Sarah to King's highway, on Manchester avenue, with nine-inch ralls, but, as it is necessary to grade the street, from building line to building line, the work is progressing slowly. None of the new steel has been laid. The south side of the street has already been cut down, and the old south track replaced.

Another improvement will be made in the Meramec Highlands line by eliminating the double curve on Sarah street, a short distance north of the Wahash tracks. This curve is dangerous, and it is so sharp that two long cars cannot pass there. For this reason the company has been unable to operate the large cars on the Meramec Highlands line.

The Suburban Company, however, has bought a lot on the southeast corner of the curve, and will build a diagonal track across it. After this track is built it will not be ralls, but, as it is necessary to grade th

it. After this track is built it will not be necessary for the cars to slow down before making the curve, and larger cars will be operated on the Highlands line.

ELIMINATE SHARP CURVES The Suburban Company also expects to make improvements that will eliminate the loss of time in rounding the curves on Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, but what those improvements will be has not been

With the improvements on the Meramed Highlands line, the company will be able to run the Meramec cars on schedule time, which cannot always be done at present. The scheduled time for making the run from Meramec Highlands to the intersection of Fourth and Elim streets is ninetysix minutes. Larger cars will also be run on this line. The car facilities on the Florissant line will also be increased.

It is not the intention of the company to increase the speed on the Suburban Park line, as General Manager Jenkins considers that the cars on that line are now running as fast as is consistent with proper precaution against accidents.

In fact, it is not proposed to increase the running time on any line, but to make such improvements as will make it possible for the cars to keep up their speed when distant from the power-house, and to climinate delays by leveling grades and abolishing sharp curves.

The St. Louis Car Company is building fifty new cars, each with a seating capacity of fifty-two, for the Suburban Company. Some of these cars will be in service within a few weeks.

In order to have shed space for the new cars, the Suburban Company will rebuild Highlands line, the company will be able in a few weeks.

In order to have shed space for the new cars, the Suburban Company will rebuild the barns at Hodiamont avenue that were burned down last spring. The engineers are at work on the plans. The part that burned down had a capacity of 119 cars. The carhouse on Manchester avenue will also be reconstructed.

A steam-heating plant and an air plant for the purpose of cleaning the cars will be added to the carhouse on Manchester avenue, as well as to the one on Hodiamont avenue.
